PRELIMINARY CEASE FIRE TALKS SUNDAY

Tokyo, July 5—(AP)—Arrangements were made today for Communist and Allied truce envoys to meet in peace Sunday. But that didn't stop the shooting in Korea. Today Reds shot at two United Nations patrols as they approached Keesong, war-scarred ancient capital of Korea where cease-fire talks will be held. Yesterday they had permitted one patrol to enter the deserted city near the 38th parallel.

U. N. Commander Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway still sought a guarantee from the Communists they would not fire in similar fashion on the emissaries he will send to Keesong Sunday.

That one hitch remains to be settled before representatives of the opposing top commands can meet. And when they do get together it will be merely to make plans for the real cease-fire conference. That will be Tuesday.

Thursday passed without word that Chinese and North Korean Commanders had guaranteed safe conduct to the U. N. delegation.

Battle action dwindled as armistice talks drew nearer. But Reds opened up Thursday with the heaviest artillery and mortar fire they've used on the western front in a week. Their guns stopped shooting in the east where they've daily harassed Allied lines.

Chinese stabbed at U. N. lines with three minor probing attacks. (Turn to Page Eleven)

WORKER SUICIDES

Cotesville, July 5—(AP)—A 47-year-old steelworker killed himself today, apparently because he was distraught over an industrial mishap in which a fellow workman was injured. Coroner Creston Shoemaker of Chester County said Ralph Lewis, who operates an overhead crane at the Lukens Steel Company here, blew his head off with a double barreled shotgun.

DIES AT 102

Jeannette, July 5—(AP)—Mrs. Belinda Myers, 102 years old, died at her home here yesterday. A native of Frederick, Md., she was the widow of one of the founders of Jeannette, C. T. Myers, Sr. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Tiny Oak Seedling Buried in Urn of Hallowed Earth for Each of 48 States

Philadelphia, July 5—(AP)—A symbol of 175 years of American independence—a tiny oak seedling buried in an urn of hallowed earth—was on the way to the capital of each of the 48 states today.

The seedlings, representing the new life sprung from the soil consecrated by heroes of American democracy, were dedicated yesterday at a ceremony on the final day of a four-day homecoming anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

The earth in each urn was dug from battlefields of the 13 original states and mixed with soil from Independence Square, the birthplace of American freedom.

Some 10,000 persons assembled in the square for the climax of the four days—a memorable re-enactment of the signing of the Declaration.

They heard Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa.) call for an "American formula" of tolerance, understanding, unity and strength to challenge the threat of "the very shackles and tyranny of the past from which we in America were freed by our own Declaration of Independence."

"We offer the world peace, if we may have peace without appeasement and with freedom," he said. "On those terms peace is available right now to the world of today but only on the terms of (Turn to Page Eleven)

INJURED IN ROCHESTER

Miss Mary Sigworth, 25, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sigworth, Hinkle street, who was seriously injured when a car in which she was riding was struck by a truck at Rochester, N. Y., Tuesday, is reported getting along as well as could be expected following an operation in a Rochester hospital. Among other injuries she sustained a broken pelvic bone.

HER MAJESTY AND COURT: The handsome float pictured above, upon which Jean Anderson, 210 Terrace street, 1951 Celebration Queen, and her court, rode in the parade, was greeted with enthusiastic applause from the thousands of spectators who lined Pennsylvania and Con-wango avenues Wednesday morning. Others on the float were Mary Turner, 231 Onondaga avenue; Shirley Kohler, 7½ Jackson street, North Warren; Carol Wade, 1501 Pennsylvania avenue, east, and Joan Gustafson, 825 Fourth avenue.

U. S. Diplomats In Hungary Ordered To Leave Country

Budapest, Hungary, July 5—(AP)—Hungary today ordered two United States diplomats to leave this country within 24 hours, labeling them "persona non grata" (unwelcome persons).

The note was handed to the U. S. legation after the United States rejected Hungary's previous demand that three members of the legation be recalled as plotters against this country's Communist government.

The two diplomats involved must cross the Hungarian border into Austria by Friday at 1 p. m.

The Hungarian note said that Budapest "considers Legation Secretary Albert Scherer, Jr., and Attache Ruth Tryon persona non grata and demands that they leave the territory within 24 hours upon receipt of the present note." It added that the Hungarian government also "considers undesirable the legation official Mary Eich."

Miss Eich left Budapest last week on home leave. The Hungarian note said Miss Eich, now staying in Vienna, would not be granted entry any more into Hungary.

Independence Day Death Toll Lowest for Holiday in Years

The nation's July 4th traffic death toll was below the National Safety Council's estimated 130 and one of the lowest for the holiday in several years.

Cool, rainy, and cloudy weather on the mid-week holiday cut highway travel in many parts of the country.

The accidental death toll, with traffic leading with 94, was 183. Two men and one child were killed from fireworks. Other accidental fatalities included 50 drownings and 36 from miscellaneous causes. The deaths were reported over a 30-hour period—from 6 p. m. Tuesday night to midnight Wednesday.

Hundreds were injured from fireworks. At least 15 suffered injuries at a fireworks display in Cheviot, O., a Cincinnati suburb, when an aerial bomb exploded among 10,000 spectators.

The traffic death toll compared with 84 for last Memorial Day, which also was on a Wednesday.

Last year the Independence Day holiday covered a four-day period and the accidental deaths hit a record high of 783. The traffic toll was 482.

The country's traffic deaths in the first five months of this year were 12,240, an average of 87 every 24 hours or 117 for a 30-hour period. The five-month total, however, covers deaths occurring to the injured days, weeks or months after the date they were injured.

The three deaths from fireworks compared with one over last year's July 4th holiday.

Fourth of July accidents took the lives of 12 persons in Pennsylvania.

As usual, automobile crashes accounted for the larger number of fatalities—nine.

The other three deaths were from drowning. Many persons were injured, in traffic accidents, at home, on holiday outings, and some by forbidden fireworks.

Truman Administration Hits At New Economic Controls Law Now Pending

Washington, July 5—(AP)—The Truman administration today hit at the economic controls law pending in congress as likely to mean $1-a-day increase in living costs for every American family.

Eric Johnston, economic stabilization director, made that estimate of it, and said President Truman has agreed that all elements of the administration should engage in a campaign of speeches, statements and appeals to inform the public on the hazards of inflation.

Johnston added to a news conference:

"We don't want an economic Pearl Harbor or a Dunkerque. And we don't want a Munich of appeasement."

Johnston had just come from a conference with President Truman. While Johnson was meeting with reporters at the Stabilization Agency, Mr. Truman was holding his usual Thursday news conference.

The president also plugged for stronger economic controls, as he has been doing for weeks, but he used much milder language than Johnston did.

Mr. Truman said he hopes the House, beginning debate today on controls legislation, will come up with a workable bill. He has been sharply critical of the bill the Senate has passed. It would re-

COMMIES WELL HEeled

Jeannette, July 5—(AP)—Judge Michael A. Musmanno told a July Fourth audience here that the $80,000 bond which four Communists forfeited in New York to escape imprisonment shows the Communist party is fortified with quantities of funds in the United States.

Musmanno said the bond required of arrested Communists is "inadequate when compared with the menace they brandish at the window of every American home."

Warren Airport On List Scheduled For Attention by C.A.A.

Washington, July 5—(AP)—The annual national airport plan of the Civil Aeronautics Administration lists 68 places in Pennsylvania where the CAA feels airports should be built or improved to meet the present or anticipated needs.

CAA stressed in the fifth of a series of annual plans required under the federal airport act that the listing of an airport in the plan does not assure that any funds—federal or local—will be allocated for it.

The goal is to provide a system of public airports to meet civil aviation needs. Because it is a continuing program, with year-to-year revisions, many projects listed this year have been listed previously. And some airports listed previously are not included this year because of the national emergency or other factors.

In the present emergency, the determining factor is the contribution to national defense, a CAA spokesman said. CAA did not list specifically the previously proposed projects that have been dropped or new ones that have been added. It said these will have to be determined locally or at its district and regional offices.

This year, for the first time, CAA lists airports by type of service rather than by numbered classification. These are:

Personal, runway length from 1,500 to 2,300 feet; secondary, 2,301 to 3,000; feeder, 3,001 to 3,500; trunk, 3,501 to 4,200; express, 4,201 to 5,000.

Borough Police Report Two Accidents With Car Occupants Escaping Injury

City police report two accidents yesterday, with no injuries in either crash. Car damage, however, was estimated at about $900.

At 12:45 p. m., cars operated by Floyd L. Hopkins, 14 Park street, and Fayban Valentine, of St. Marys, collided at Canton and Madison, with about $500 damage to Hopkins and $350 to Valentine.

According to the police report, Valentine was proceeding south on Canton street. He told police that he stopped for the stop sign, but because of a hedge he did not see the Hopkins car going east on Madison.

At 8:45 p. m. yesterday, a Ridgway driver sideswiped a car owned by Russell Beck, of Sheffield, which was parked on Pennsylvania avenue near Walnut street. Damage was estimated at about $50.

Chief of Police Mike Evan said this morning that the new police car, in conjunction with the present car, gave police an edge on

Every Event on Celebration Schedule Is Staged Despite Frequent Showers During Day

Another Fourth of July celebration has gone into the records of Warren history, the entire stock of superlatives has been exhausted, and the crowd variously estimated as high as 35,000 showered its plaudits upon the Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce and citizens' committee which sponsored the whole affair.

The parade, drum corps competition, model airplane show, and fireworks yesterday climaxed a celebration which really got under way months ago when Jack Barr and Milt Dahler were named co-chairmen of the Jaycee-citizens' committee and preliminary details were discussed.

Intermittent showers throughout Wednesday and the thunderstorm and downpour which interrupted the festivities at War Memorial Field in late afternoon failed to discourage the public and every event on the schedule hung out the Standing Room Only signs long before the starting gun was sounded.

The parade of 22 divisions and as many musical organizations moved promptly at the designated hour of 11 o'clock and ended at Beatty Junior High School, taking more than one hour to pass the reviewing stand erected in Pennsylvania avenue, west near Times Square.

Long before starting time, every parking space on the parade route was taken and one East Side resident is said to have earned the distinction of being first on hand, bringing his car over town shortly after six in the morning and later bringing his family to their "reserved seats" therein.

The judges' committee chose the best floats and the best Class C drum corps as the parade passed their stand. First prize of $175 went to the Emblem Oil Company float which depicted the raising of the flag on Iwo Jima, using members of the Warren Marine Corps League. One of the Marines on the float was Charles Schaffer, Jackson street extension, who was serving on Iwo Jima at the time and who played "Taps" for the burial of the dead heroes who lost their lives in that battle.

Second place in the float contest went to the Brown Run Lumber Company entry which showed a scale model miniature raft which years ago was used on the Allegheny river. The second prize was $100. The judges awarded the third prize of $75 to Cub Pack 47, Conewango avenue, whose float was in the form of a large Viking ship. Tiny Town's float which showed Bo Peep with a live lamb was the fourth prize winner and received $50. A special award of $25 was given to the Kordon Kids from Warren.

Eleven drum corps were judged during the line of march in Class C competition. The winners, in order, were Johnstown Armstrong Hose Co., with 95.4 points; Dunkirk Hose Co. No. 1, 92.8; Dunkirk Murray Hose Co. No. 4, 91.3; Johnstown Central Hose Co., 88.3; and Salamanca VFW, 83.4.

As the parade disbanded at Beatty school, a Jaycee committee served lunch to all of the visiting organizations. There were 750 persons served on Beatty Field before the drum corps went to Memorial Field to start the afternoon activities.

The torrential downpour broke at Memorial Field as some 4,000 persons watched the last of the competing Class A drum corps going through its drills. The few who stayed in the stands during the storm were pleased to see the Brockport, N. Y., corps continue to maneuver despite the rain and finish its drill within the allotted time.

The 15 judges who scored the four competing outfits were led by M. G. Keller as chief judge. They awarded first prize of $800 to the Rochester, N. Y., Greece Post, American Legion Gray Knights, with a score of 95.60 out of a possible 100. Second place went to the Brockport VFW, with a score of 95 and they received $500. Third place was won by the Lock Haven VFW Black Knights with a score of 93.37, and fourth place was captured by the Dunkirk American Legion Post No. 62.

The judges included Herbert Quiggle, Calvin Lawson, James V. Scallie, John Schaffer, Clifford Briggs, Al Buerkle, Rex Biekarck, Henry Christensen, Homer Fitch, Harry Summers, James Senger, George Senger, Joseph Massa and Harry Tourtelot.

Before the Class A competition exhibition drills were given by the Niagara Falls Gordon Kiltie Pipe Band; the Jamestown American Legion Corps; the Titusville Elks-Lettes and the Titusville Marine League Junior Drill team; the Dunkirk Hose Company No. 1; the Erie Girls Elks drum corps; and the Meadville IOOF Orphans Home Band.

Immediately following the evening meal, the crowd moved to Beatty Field to take in the model airplane contest, remaining there through the fireworks and the Grand Finale.

The fireworks started about 9:30 and lasted 45 minutes, with applause greeting many of the displays. Queen Jean Anderson rung down the curtain on the celebration by awarding the Grand Prize of the day to Ernest Beckwith, Warren-Jamestown road.

OUTSTANDING YOUNG LEADERS ARE NAMED

Chicago, July 5—(AP)—A girl from Foreman, Ark., and West Allis, Wis., boy each 17, today were named America's outstanding young leaders by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Mona L. McGuire and Harold T. Conrad were chosen winners of the Elks Youth Leadership Contest at the closing session of the order's 87th grand lodge convention. Each was awarded $400 U. S. Savings Bonds.

Twenty-eight other boys and girls received honorable mention and $100 bonds.

JULY FOURTH OBSERVANCE IS WORLDWIDE

By The Associated Press
Celebration and defense of the rights to independent freedom proclaimed 175 years ago by the Provincial Colonists of America spread around the world yesterday.

The unexampled growth of the American people since Thomas Jefferson's declaration was proclaimed July 4, 1776, stood out as the day was commemorated in 1951.

An American, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, was in command, at Tokyo, of a 17-nation military organization—with American forces the backbone—which has been back aggression in Asia and brought Communist forces into cease-fire talks.

An American, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, took part in London Fourth of July ceremonies as supreme commander of a 12-nation military organization on which the western part of the free world pins its hopes for survival against Communism.

President Truman, however, told the nation the world faces a long period of "great international danger" and warned against relaxing. He demanded a "hard, tough policy of self denial."

In Philadelphia, birthplace of the Declaration of Independence, 10,000 gathered in Independence Square to witness a re-enactment of the signing of the document.

Oatis Is Serving Ten Year Sentence

Frankfurt, Germany, July 5—(AP)—William N. Oatis today began serving a 10-year prison sentence meted out by Communist Czechoslovakia for "spying out state secrets" while doing his job as an Associated Press reporter. The court said "good behavior" might take five years off the sentence.

Oatis, chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Prague, and three Czech employees of the bureau were sentenced yesterday in grim Pankrac prison after a two-day trial.

Two U. S. embassy observers, who attended the trial said that after the five-man Red court handed down the sentence, they heard Oatis say faintly:

"I accept the sentence of the court and ask that I be sent somewhere where I can do some useful work."

The three Czech co-defendants, who had been employed mainly as translators, drew heavier sentences.

In New York the Associated Press branded the trial as "a sham and a mockery of elemental justice."

Administration Uses Holiday To Hit Hard Its Campaign Against Complacency

Washington, July 5—(AP)—A grim-faced President Truman said last night it still is too early to tell whether the Communists mean business about calling off the war in Korea.

And even if they do, he warned in a Fourth of July address punctuated by bursting firecrackers, "we cannot ignore the danger of military outbreaks in other parts of the world."

Leading the nation's celebration of the 175th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, Mr. Truman joined Chief Justice Fred Vinson and Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson in broadcasting this message to the American people:

We dare not relax. Said the president, standing alone on a wide platform before a restive crowd of around 200,000, with the floodlit Washington monument rising ghostlike in the distance:

"The greatest threat to world peace, the tremendous armed power of the Soviet union, will still remain, even if the Korean fighting stops. x x x

"We have the hard task of increasing production and controlling inflation in order to support the strong armed forces we must have for years to come."

Across the land, more than 10,000 communities—notably Philadelphia, birthplace of American independence—re-dedicated themselves to the ideals of 1776.

The Truman administration used the holiday to hit hard its campaign against complacency.

Two Youngsville Accidents Reported

Two automobile accidents were reported by Youngsville police yesterday, both occurring at the same spot. No one was injured.

The first took place at 11 a. m. on West Main street near the Water Hardware Company store when a car operated by Robert Stiles, of Corry, headed east, ran into the rear of a line of cars waiting for a traffic light change. Stiles' car was damaged to an estimated $450.

Other cars involved, all with minor damage, were operated by John W. Elmes, of Erie; Larry Stiles, of Corry, and Joseph G. Mokwa, also of Corry.

The second crash took place at three p. m. at the same location when a car operated by Raymond Powell, of Youngsville, which was parked, pulled into traffic in front of another car operated by L. Verne Day, of Tappan.

Damage to Powell was estimated at $50, and to Day about $75.

An unofficial survey of west-bound traffic, made between 2:30 and 3:00 p. m. Tuesday afternoon on Market street, showed 38 and 7 vehicles in two five-minute periods, or 456 and 564 per hour. The count did not include vehicles traveling in any other direction through the square.

CRUDE STOCKS
For the first time in five months the stocks of Pennsylvania grade crude oil showed an increase at the end of May, 1951, according to the National Petroleum Association. At the end of that month, they totaled 1,658,872 barrels. This is an increase of 80,819 barrels over the previous month but a decline of 32,527 barrels from May 31, 1950. The pipe lines and tank farms held 1,510,759 barrels at the end of May, 1951, as compared to 1,523,350 barrels at the end of April, 1951, and 2,062,725 barrels at the end of May 31, 1950. This represents an increase of 28,429 barrels over April, 1951, and a decrease of 781,966 barrels from May, 1950. The refineries held 58,113 barrels at the end of May, 1951. This is an increase of 52,390 barrels over the previous month's stock and a decrease of 50,561 from the same month in 1950.

Celebration Notes

Everyone present is unanimous in the opinion that the meeting of the celebration committee Tuesday evening at the American Legion home with wives in attendance, was without doubt the most interesting of the long series that began with the first session back in February.

It will always be a question as to whether the crowd that witnessed the parade was larger than that of last year. Anyhow it is safe to say it was one of the largest in the history of the town.

Ed Honhart and his replica of an old-time raft, and the pioneer raftsmen who rode in cars, excited many favorable comments. Mr. Honhart deserves a special word of praise for his entry.

The crowd of celebration workers that turned out for the breakfast at eight o'clock Wednesday, was the largest ever.

Pete Massa was right on the dot with his six o'clock bombardment yesterday morning.

Some of the Jaycees, headed by Chairman Jack Barr were so busy Tuesday night and early yesterday that it is doubtful whether any of them ever managed to get to bed.

A slight mist was in the air when the parade started shortly after eleven o'clock, but it failed to drive any of the spectators from the streets.

For the two veterans on the celebration committee, the marshal and chief coordinator, tradition was broken. Parades usually start on time, but Wednesday's procession was held up a little because of delay in getting the Chautauque County Deputy Sheriffs and their mounts in line in the first division. At that the parade moved about eight minutes late after the starting bombs were set off.

It would be swell to mention the names of all the Jaycees who deserve special recognition for outstanding work on the various committees, but it is just possible some who rate commendation would be overlooked, hence it seems better not to attempt to list them.

The Warren Players' "Spirit of '76," received an ovation all along the line, although the marshal and chief coordinator, directly in front of them took a few bows at the expense of the "boys in tatters".

The oldest marcher in the procession was without doubt I. A. Reed, well known veteran barber, 80 years old, who was chief of the 22nd division.

It was perhaps the most musical parade ever presented in Warren and it is interesting to note that every organization still on the rolls Tuesday evening, appeared. There were no cancellations because of threatening weather.

The celebration committee members were not the only persons scanning the skies during the morning with anxious feelings that for the first time a parade might be "washed out".

Another gigantic crowd witnessed the elaborate fireworks display last evening, and so far as the records show, every person reached home safely and there were no bent fenders.

A meeting of the celebration committee will be called within a few days to clean up the affairs of the 1951 celebration and probably discuss the possibilities of another next year.

Until the "take" at the drum corps competition at War Memorial Field the Jaycees were facing a deficit of several thousand dollars.

Parade officials are grateful for the fine work of the division chiefs and aides, all of whom performed in exemplary manner.

A bevy of attractive young women, most of them in shorts, proved a big help to the celebration committee before and during the parade in soliciting funds to help defray expenses incurred by the Jaycees.

It was the first celebration parade ever staged in Warren without the appearance of a National Guard unit, and many commented on the fact.

The Lock Haven drum corps was just starting for their assigned place in the parade when the first part of the procession reached Beaty School.

The queen and her court reviewed the parade in Third avenue just off Conewango, along with the committee and parade officials.

Sheriff Clarence Bell headed the delegation of 19 affiliated with the Chautauque County Deputy Sheriff's organization 18 of whom were mounted in the parade. The sheriff rode in a car with Sheriff L. E. Linder, of Warren county. The men unloaded in Erantz field, and were entertained at the Linder home.

DAILY PRODUCTION
The daily average production of Pennsylvania grade crude oil declined in the week ended June 23, according to the American Petroleum Institute. In that week, the daily production averaged 54,400 barrels as compared to the previous week's 55,550 barrels. Allegany had the biggest decline—900 barrels to 9,800. Other declines: Kane-to-Butler's 525 to 3,300 barrels, Southwestern Pennsylvania's 300 to 2,400 barrels, Southeastern Ohio's 350 to 3,850 barrels. Bradford's daily production increased 675 barrels to 27,250. West Virginia's was up 260 to 7,700 barrels. Virginia's remained unchanged at 100 barrels daily.

MARRIAGE BOOM

There are three marriages every minute somewhere in the United States, according to the latest statistics of the Institute of Life Insurance.

This marriage boom has been going on for some time, but the big rush in romance followed the outbreak of the Korean War last summer, just as it did during World War II.

As the brides and grooms continue to rush up the aisle at the rate of more than a million and a half marriages per year, Dorothy Roe, Associated Press women's editor, finds some notable changes are evident in the nation's social set-up.

It seems, for instance, that at present there are more eligible bachelors running around loose than there are unmarried girls between the ages of 20 and 24. This, the statisticians explain, is because most of the current crop of brides are in that age group, while the bridegrooms usually are a few years older.

So, midway in 1951, only a third of all girls between 20 and 24 are unmarried, and only 15 per cent of all women between 25 and 34.

This provides a rare and unusual advantage for the girls, who have been bombarded with advice for years about how to catch a husband, and who have been warned frequently that there aren't enough men to go around.

Now it seems that young ladies in the lucky age group can be a little more choosy in selecting their life mates.

No longer will they have to jump at the first male who comes along in order to avoid that awful fate of becoming old maids.

NATIONAL DEBT AND SPENDING

In the July issue of Reader's Digest, a line representing the size of the 1950 Federal debt begins on page 74. It continues for eight consecutive pages before coming to an end on page 81. The line is drawn to a scale of one inch representing six billion dollars. A notation on the chart says:

"If the scale were one inch to one million dollars, this chart would be four miles long."

Reprinted on page 75 are figures prepared by the Small Business Men's Association. They show the following percentage of increase in the spending by government bureaus during 1950 as compared with 1940, both peacetime years:

Department of Commerce—Increase of 1,049 per cent.

Department of Interior—Increase of 696 per cent.

Department of Labor—Increase of 1,283 per cent.

Department of Justice—Increase of 158 per cent.

Independent Offices—Increase of 176 per cent.

Department of State—Increase of 1,634 per cent.

CONGRATULATIONS — — — JAYCEES!

The community is again indebted to the Warren Chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for another grand and glorious Fourth of July celebration, and we know we reflect the sentiments of thousands of persons who enjoyed the various exciting and entertaining events when we say that we are very happy that the Weatherman cooperated sufficiently to enable the progressive organization to raise funds required to meet the budget.

When the Jaycees back in February and March started talking about a celebration that would extend over five days, with such events as Koaster Klassic, speed boat races, Memorial Field dedication and queen contest, along with the usual gigantic parade and spectacular fireworks program, many feared the boys were taking on a task that might prove just a little bit too large. The manner in which all events were staged, with apparently nothing left undone to assure their success, proves again that the Junior Chamber of Commerce is one of Warren's greatest assets, and makes one wonder just how the community managed to get along before this organization came to town.

Again we say, congratulations, Jaycees. It was a marvelous celebration!

It is regrettable that the holiday had to be marred by an accident that claimed the life of a young motorist. Considering the huge crowds in town Tuesday night, all day yesterday, and last evening, it is gratifying to be able to report that no serious accidents occurred in the borough, a record that reflects great credit on the efficient work of the police department and celebration officials.

Ahead of Schedule

Here And There

Compared to Independence Day, 1951, the community experienced a quiet holiday fifty years ago, as is evidenced by the following article that appeared in The Evening Times of July 5, 1901:

Another Independence Day has passed into history; another batch of gunpowder, dynamite, nitroglycerine, has been scattered and stray chunks of flesh and bone and various parts of human frame have been promiscuously spread broadcast.

Locally the day will be remembered with pleasure. There was no effort at a general celebration, which should have been a cause for universal thanksgiving, for it made the work of the police department much lighter than usual.

There was amusement enough for all, however, and of the most interesting sort. The street railway company reports one of the heaviest days in history, and nearly every car on the line was pressed into service. The throngs were handled admirably and there was but little overcrowding.

Wednesday evening a bombardment commenced and continued throughout the night and all day Thursday until a late hour at night when the tired upholders of the flag dragged themselves home well contented with their respective parts in the celebration of the day.

As usual the small boy and his sister were in their element and it was surprising the amount of help the youngsters required from the head of the family.

The general movement parkward commenced early in the day and continued until a late hour in the evening. The varied program provided at that resort proved very popular and the Indians in their native costumes, dances, and games were the object of much curiosity.

Three band concerts were given and the races and Indian performances in the interim afforded amusement for thousands, the whole terminating in a grand ball which did not come to an end until early this morning. The most decorous conduct was observed everywhere, and while there were of course a number of convivial parties, the peace and serenity of the day was only disturbed by the nerve-racking giant firecrackers.

Early morning trains on the D. A. V. & P. carried hundreds of persons away from the city, the principal points of interest being Buffalo and Celoron where they baked, and labored under the delusion that they were having a better time than would have been the case had they remained at home.

Among the most important happenings of the day were the two ball games at Recreation Park. A team composed of the best talent procurable in Oil City and Franklin was sent to Warren to trim the local team. How well they succeeded is told by the story of the games elsewhere. (Note: The C. A. C. won the first game 3 to 1, and lost the second 8 to 4.)

Celebration briefs: Jaycees officials and members are justly entitled to all the back patting that may have been observed the past few days. Among older members of the celebration committee there is a tradition that "the show goes on" despite threatening weather, or rain, and that situation prevailed Wednesday morning as the boys gathered at the Beebe restaurant for breakfast and ducked in and out of the place between showers. It was estimated at least a half hundred attended the breakfast, including J. A. Johnson and Harry Shawkey. A member of the committee recalled that the Dunkirk drum and bugle corps has participated in every celebration Warren has staged in the past twenty years. Tuesday evening's meeting of the celebration was one of the briefest in history, with President Schmidt rapping for order, asking "is there any old business, new business, if not meeting adjourned?"

Incidentally that session, with the wives in attendance was without doubt the most interesting and enjoyable of any ever held in connection with a celebration. The radio communication furnished by a group of local enthusiasts proved of great help to the committee at all events, and particularly the Koaster Klassics and parade. The parade route was parked full of cars on both sides of the streets as early as six o'clock Wednesday morning, and it was surprising how many of the cars were empty when the parade came along. The Kiwanis Club division chiefs and aides turned out with attractive arm bands that made them one of the most outstanding delegations connected with the parade. The Brockport, N. Y., corps, arrived shortly after midnight and was put up at the Exchange Hotel. Everyone agrees that the crowd was as large, if not larger, than the record attendance of a year ago. Until the rains came the mammoth crowd at War Memorial Field in the afternoon was treated to another colorful and spectacular program of exhibitions and music. Brockport demonstrated the splendid training of drum corps units by remaining on the field despite the pouring rain that broke over the field near the end of the program. Everybody had a grand and glorious time, and the community owes another vote of thanks to the Jaycees and their able assistants.

Curling, a national Scottish game, was introduced in the 16th century from the low countries.

★ WASHINGTON COLUMN ★

Bureaucratic Worm Turns On His Congressional Pests

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—At least one federal worm turned last week. The Senate and House economists had been kicking bureaucrats and civil servants around quite a bit. Measures to fire 10 per cent of all government employees had been considered. The vacation periods of those remaining were to be cut. The number of government chauffeurs was to be reduced. And it was even proposed that government automobiles be painted bright yellow, so that the people riding in them could be watched more closely.

Whereupon one anonymous low-grade government employee with a sense of humor drafted a bill to complete the degradation. It read like this:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that this Act may be cited as 'The Federal Employees Identification Act of 1951.'"

"Sec. 2. Under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Chief of the Civil Service Commission and without regard to the tenets of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, each Federal employee shall be conspicuously and indelibly identified by having branded on his or her forehead the Coat of Arms of the Civil Service. Such brand shall consist of a mink coat rampant on a Cadillac sedan and a cup of coffee couchant on an F.C. loan certificate.

"Sec. 3. The privilege of wearing this Coat of Arms of the Civil Service shall be in addition to, and not in lieu of, such existing perquisites as loss of leave, job insecurity, public disdain and congressional disfavor."

U. S. Ambassador John E. Blandford, Jr., now estimates that it will take three to five years more to resettle the 870,000 refugees of the Arab-Israeli war of 1948. Cost of the resettlement is estimated at over $150 million, of which the U. S. proposes to furnish $50 million in the next year, Congress approving. Ambassador Blandford recently resigned his State Department post as adviser to the Palestine relief mission, to become director of the resettlement work for the United Nations. The main job is to feed, clothe and shelter these refugees until the economy of the Middle East can be developed to provide them with jobs. The Arab states still plan to ask for Israeli compensation for driving these people from their old homes.

Louisiana Congressman F. Edward Hebert's recent series of articles, giving his eye-witness account of the most recent atomic bomb explosion test on Eniwetok, probably got greater newspaper distribution than anything ever written by a congressman. Representative Hebert was himself a former city editor and columnist on the New Orleans States.

While he was criticized by some commentators for having revealed atomic bomb secrets and for writing a story which no other newspaper correspondents were allowed to witness, Representative Hebert points out that his articles were censored and fully cleared by the Atomic Energy Commission, and that he accepted no money for writing. He has taken a strong position that no government official should accept pay for writing on official duties.

This is how hard up your constantly growing government is for office space in Washington: The vast Pentagon basement, originally intended for storage space, has been cleaned out and converted into offices. All this did was create a new demand for storage space. The President's Materials Policy Commission under Columbia Broadcasting President William S. Paley has offices now in what used to be the lobby of a YMCA. The new National Science Foundation with 85 employees had to be split in two buildings, one a former private school which fled crowded Washington for Virginia. Every time a new agency is created, it makes a new space problem.

In the near future people who live in the vicinity of Tidoute and Pleasant Township will have an opportunity to observe a helicopter spray insect infested red pine plantations. The plantations have been attacked by harmful insects called the European Pine Shoot Moth. The DDT and water spray will kill the insects and further damage to the infected plantations and spread to others will be eliminated.

Dusting and spraying insecticides from airplanes and helicopters is not an innovation. This method of combating insects and diseases of field crops has been used effectively for many years. The airplane was first used for this purpose and extremely skilled and courageous pilots are needed to hedge-hop low over the ground to do the job. Now, however, the slower moving and more versatile helicopter is generally used for spraying and dusting. Not only is air-spraying very rapid and effective, it is also less expensive than conventional ground-spraying methods.

The presence of the Tip Moth was recently discovered in the plantations to be treated. One of these is part of the well-known "Penny Pines" area near Tidoute. The other is located in Pleasant Township on Route 337, near the Warren Astronomical Observatory. Bushy tops of the young trees is an exterior indication of the presence of the insect.

The adult European Pine Shoot Moth lays eggs in the buds and needles of the trees during the early summer. The eggs hatch in the summer and the emerging larvae burrow into the buds, killing the and deforming the top leader and branches. The larvae spends the winter in the buds of the trees and becomes active again in the spring. Late in the spring, after a short period of pupation, the moth develops and eggs are again deposited and another life cycle is started. The life cycle can be most effectively broken by spraying to kill the larvae.

Insects and diseases take a terrific annual toll of the Nation's forests. Though not as spectacular as forest fires, nevertheless in their quiet way they are the more damaging. The total loss of the Chestnut to a single disease, the Chestnut blight is mute testimony of this fact. Eternal vigilance and heavy expenditures are necessary to keep them in check. Constant research and study are vital to do this job.

The Forest Service is cognizant of many of the misunderstandings and some of the complications that might result from this job. Careful studies that have been made show when properly handled, and in densities no greater than is necessary to effect control, wildlife species—with the frequent exception of fish—are in no danger of being harmed. Fortunately the areas that will be treated on this job are not in the vicinity of or closely tributary to any fishing streams.

Some people have been used to picking berries in or near the plantation areas involved and it is suggested that they transfer their efforts elsewhere this year. The treated areas will be posted with conspicuous warning signs.

Fire Department Answers 4 Calls

Fire equipment was called out four times yesterday afternoon and evening, all times for broken power wires which caused no fires. Equipment made quick runs despite the heavy traffic and returned to stations shortly after to be on duty for other possible emergencies. City police stood by and directed traffic until Penlec crews could make repairs.

Three of the calls came in immediately after the heavy electrical storm and downpour of rain about four o'clock. A fourth call came at 6:47 p. m.

The wires were down on Water street, two places on Lexington avenue, on Parker street, at Canton and Lincoln, and last evening on Third avenue.

One of the lightning bolts struck the fire alarm system during the storm, causing a shower of sparks at Central station.

Carriages in England during the reign of Queen Elizabeth were called "whirligigets".

Koaster Klassics Declared To Be Outstanding Event

A crowd that jammed both sides of the North Carver street speedway, witnessed a most successful running of the first Kid's Koaster Klassic ever to be held in the city of Warren. According to reports from spectators, the Klassic was considered one of the most successful events of the celebration. The boys are to be congratulated for their fine cooperation in making this event a great success.

The winners were as follows: First—David Redmond, sponsored by Bartsch Furniture Co. Prize—Fully equipped bicycle donated by Dick Ross of Western Auto Store.

Second—Donald Hoffman, sponsored by Sylvania. Prize—Lumerson Radio.

Third—Glenn Rapp, sponsored by Style Shop. Prize—Camera with flash bulb attachment, donated by McIntosh Photo Service.

Craig Kerr won the award for the most attractive and best constructed racer. Prize—Camera with flash bulb attachment donated by Ben Kinnear.

28 boys were entered in the Klassic.

It might be interesting to spectators who witnessed the race that the fastest time clocked was in the West Lane at 24 3/5 seconds run by Wilford Winner, winner of the first heat. The East Lane seemed to be the lane that most racers were winning in.

The committee wish to thank the officials for a job well done. Officials were: Judges: W. E. Rice, Don McComas, Joe Massa, flagman, Jim Senger; starters: Barney Senger (firing starting gun), Merle Sterling and William Anderson, holding racers at start line.

The committee in charge realize the success of this first Koaster Klassic was due, to a large extent, to the generosity of many individuals and concerns who gave willingly the use of their time, equipment and energy. We would like to take this opportunity, through the local paper, to thank wholeheartedly the following: Sylvania Electric, Autobody Repair, United Refining, Emblem Oil, Warren Amateur Radio Club, J & M Radio Shop, John Newmaker, WNAE, Struthers-Wells, Warren Transfer, American Legion, Boro Street Dep't, Boro Park Dep't, American Red Cross, Templeton Funeral Parlor, Peterson Funeral Parlor, Gibson Funeral Parlor, YMCA.

Anderson Bakery, Warren Beverage Co., Walkers Creamery, Warren Police Dep't, Warren Times-Mirror.

A special thanks is due to Dan Dodge of Dan's Chevrolet Co., who procured the official wheels and axles used in the building of the racers. And also the sponsors of the boys, who purchased the wheels and axles for the boys. Also the committee does not wish to forget the property owners and residents of North Carver street for their fine cooperation.

'Vacation' Routine in Home Makes Summer Living Easier

SUMMER doesn't have to be too hard on the homemaker if she will regard it as the time when she can simplify her family's living and make use of all the shortcuts and timesavers she knows.

That is what a family does when they go off on a vacation. By adopting a vacation attitude toward living for all the summer months, life can be a lot more fun at home.

Turn summer suppers into picnic meals and the whole family will pitch in to help, even though the "picnic" is just on the porch or in the yard.

Promise the kids a swim or an afternoon at the park if they'll help with the housecleaning and watch the work get done in a hurry. Maybe it won't be as thorough as Mom would have done it alone, but it will be good enough for vacation living.

SKIP THE DINNER INVITATIONS

ASKING friends to come by after dinner or on week-end afternoons instead of inviting them for dinner makes entertaining in the summer simple and easy. Therefore it's fun instead of hard work.

Moving the living room out of doors helps, too—both in saving work and in saving tempers. An outdoor living room doesn't crowd a family up so that they get in each other's way.

Asking "Is this job really necessary?" helps, too, to cut down on household drudgery when the mercury soars.

All of those things comprise taking a vacation attitude toward living. And the woman who adopts it is sure to get more enjoyment out of the summer months than the woman who isn't willing to let down.

Qualifying Round For Championship Of Women Golfers

Women golfers of the Conewago Valley Country Club will start their qualifying rounds for the 1951 club championship on July 8th. Mrs. Hugo Jamieson, chairman for the month of July, states the 18-hole match must be played by July 15 so that pairings may be posted by July 16th. Each golfer will qualify in her own division.

The flag tournament which was played on Tuesday was won by Mrs. Sidney W. Blackman. In second place was Mrs. Robert Walsh, with Mrs. Richard Costley running a close third.

Mrs. Blackman not only won the link in the first division but had the low gross of 93 for the field. In division two, Mrs. Lyle Knapp was the link winner, with Mrs. Joseph Sugerman taking the third division and winning the "weekend lesson" given by Professional Charles Jones.

The July 11th tournament will be a match for the fewest putts.

High Ratings for Many Students In Annual Auditions

Eighty-one students participated in the four-day national piano-playing auditions for 1951 at the Warren Conservatory of Music, Ella Ketterer of Philadelphia proving popular with pupils and teachers alike.

Miss Ketterer, composer of more than 200 pieces listed in the Theodore Presser catalog, has a pleasing personality and proved helpful to each student who played for her, her instruction, in fact, amounting to a master lesson from a noted musician and teacher.

There were 14 students who made a grade of "superior," over 85%; 19 had "excellent plus," over 93%. Each one played a program of from four to ten compositions, all from memory, and including one piece from an early master such as Bach, Handel or Scarlatti; another in the early sonata form; one from a romantic composer; and one from a modern writer.

The pupils compete only with themselves, each trying to better his rating of a year ago. Each one who plays in the yearly auditions automatically becomes a member of the National Fraternity of Students of Music and is presented with a beautiful gold-plated emblem-pin.

DON'T let the scarcity or high price of meat get you down. There are lots of other foods, more plentiful and less expensive, that can give your family the protein and sense of satisfaction they need to be strong and happy.

Canned tuna is as good a source of "complete" protein as meat and there is an abundant supply of it in our markets. In this unusually delicious recipe, tuna is combined with the new instant chicken cubes, milk, eggs and flour to produce a dish manfully supplied with top quality protein.

Tuna Tetrazzini (6 servings)

One-half pound thin spaghetti, ¼ cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup flour, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon paprika, 5 instant chicken bouillon cubes, 1 cup water, 1 tall can evaporated milk, 1 7-ounce can tuna, flaked; 4 hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped; ½ cup minced green pepper, ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese (optional).

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender; drain. Melt butter or margarine in top of double boiler; blend in flour, pepper and paprika. Add instant chicken bouillon cubes; crush and blend in. Add water and evaporated milk; stir over low heat until smooth and thickened. Cover; cook over hot water 10 minutes. Divide sauce in half; to ½ add spaghetti; blend well. Add tuna, eggs and green pepper to remaining sauce. Arrange spaghetti in serving dish; top with tuna mixture, sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. For a summer luncheon, deep sea chowder offers a protein rich treat.

Deep Sea Chowder (6 servings)

One-eighth pound fat salt pork, diced; 1 medium onion, chopped; 2 instant chicken bouillon cubes, 2 cups hot water, 3 medium potatoes, diced; ½ teaspoon pepper, 1 7-ounce can tuna, flaked; 2 cups milk, minced parsley.

Fry salt pork in saucepan until crisp and golden brown; drain on absorbent paper. Cook onion in salt pork drippings until soft but not brown. Dissolve instant chicken bouillon cubes in hot water; add with potatoes and pepper. Simmer until potatoes are tender (about 15 minutes). Add flaked tuna and milk; heat but do not boil. Garnish with parsley and crisp salt pork.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, ready to eat cereal, poached eggs on toast, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Toasted peanut butter and chili sauce sandwiches, cabbage and apple salad, stewed blackberries, cookies, iced tea, milk.

DINNER: Tomato juice, tuna Tetrazzini, cucumber salad, bread sticks or French bread, fresh fruit gelatin with crushed berries sauce, coffee, milk.

N. Y., as secretary-treasurer. The program included musical numbers among them selections by Doyle Carlson and the Peterson boy from the Swede Hollow Gang, heard frequently over WNAE. Other numbers were harmonica selections by Harold Carlson, Sugar Grove; vocal selections by several girls, accompanied by Mrs. Albin Carlson and Hope Carlson on guitars.

LUTHER LEAGUE

Hessel Valley Luther League members will hold their regular meeting in the church at Chandler Valley at 8 p. m. Friday and a large turnout is hoped for.

READY TO COMPETE—The Dunkirk Drum and Bugle Corps, one of the four Class A corps which entered the competition at Memorial Field yesterday afternoon, awaits judges' signal to start their intricate drilling maneuvers.

SHOWER—Umbrellas go up in the bleachers at Memorial Field during Drum and Bugle Corps competition. Later a deluge washed out the grand finale.

VIKING SHIP—An outstanding entry in the Fourth of July parade was this huge Viking Ship, entered by Cub Pack 47. The youngsters drew a big hand all along the parade route for this float, which won third prize.

DAYS OF YORE—Old Time Riverman's log raft, entered by Brown Lumber Co., won second prize in parade. Be-whiskered log man on float is Ed Johnson, an old-time riverman, who supervised construction of the float.

LOOKING OVER THE PRIZES—The four winners of the Kids Koaster Klassic look over the prizes they won. David Redmond won first, a bicycle. Second and third place awards went to Donald Hoffman and Glenn Rapp. Craig Kerr won the award for the most attractive and best constructed racer.

CHECKERED FLAG—Jim Senger, one of the officials for the Kids Koaster Klassic, drops the checkered flag at finish line for one of the race heats at North Carver street speedway. Car in west lane was the winner.

AT STARTING LINE—Two of the 28 entries in Kids Koaster Klassic tensely await starter's gun on North Carver street speedway. Contestants flipped a coin for choice of lanes.

COLORS PASSING BY—The National Colors and massed flags of participating organizations headed the community's big Fourth of July parade. This photo was taken at Pennsylvania avenue and Market street, just after the head of the parade had passed the judges reviewing stand. Marshal's car is directly behind, and other parade units stretch far up the avenue.

FLOAT PRIZE WINNER—Little Bo Peep and her sheep was the float entry of the Tiny Town children's store. Judges awarded the entry fourth prize.

COMPETITION WINNERS—Grey Knights from Rochester, N. Y., first prize winners in the Drum and Bugle Corps competition at Memorial Field, serenaded the judges stand. Their music was rated the best ever heard in drum corps competition here.

CELEBRATION JESTERS—Those two clowns who provided so much amusement for parade spectators Wednesday were Eimer Anderson, left, Jamestown, N. Y., and Howard Fox. The committee expressed appreciation for the appearance of the men and the important part they had in making the event the success it turned out to be.

FIRST AID STATION WELL STAFFED—Two nurses were on duty at the first aid station in the Penleele building during the parade with an ambulance standing by in Liberty street. The women who so kindly offered their services were Mrs. Gladys Trussler, R. N., left, and Miss Lenore Thurston.

CONSERVATION THEME—Members of Cub Pack 4 of South Street school worked out a conservation theme for their float entry in the parade.

Motorist Is Badly Injured in Crash

Charles Cederquist, 27, of 10 West 18th street, Jamestown, is in serious condition in Jamestown General Hospital as the result of an automobile accident which took place on Route 69, about one mile north of Sugar Grove at 6:55 a. m. today.

State Police from the Warren barracks, conducting the investigation, report Cederquist had reached the New York-Pennsylvania line when he lost control of his car, skidded and rolled over.

Removed to the hospital in Jamestown, it was learned he was suffering from internal injuries and at press time this afternoon had not regained consciousness.

Passengers in his car were David Fleck and Joe Restivo, both of Jamestown, the former uninjured; the latter receiving a laceration of his left forehead, bruises and injuries to his neck.

The Cederquist car, a 1950 Oldsmobile convertible, was damaged to the extent of about $1,000, police said.

Six Marines Have A Difficult Task

One of the most difficult assignments of the entire parade was the work of the six Marines of the Leatherneck Detachment who posed on the first-prize Emblem Old float in portrayal of the historic raising of the Stars and Stripes on Iwo Jima on February 23, 1945.

In the group were Charles Schaeffer, Kenneth Parks, Robert Stevenson, Leonard Owens, Frank Gruttaria and Howard Clark. In this connection, it is recalled that Schaeffer was the bugler who sounded "Taps" as the dead were brought down from Mt. Surabachi and again for their burial in Hawaii.

The same Iwo Jima incident was reenacted during the afternoon by two of the Class A Drum Corps participating in the competition on War Memorial Field, all copying the on-the-spot Associated Press picture which has since become a part of America's historical scenes collection.

RENT CONTROL NEWS RELEASE

Office of the Housing Expediter, Area Rent Office, 707 Commerce Building, Erie, Penn'a

Question: Some of my friends have had very unfortunate experiences in purchasing property to find that the legal rent had been misrepresented to them with the result that they did not get the income they expected but even had to refund overcharges to tenants. How can I be certain that the rents of any property I am considering purchasing are the legal rents?

Answer: Check with the Rent Office at 707 Commerce Building, Erie, to find out the present legal rents. Every individual who purchases a property should protect himself by checking with the Rent Office to determine whether any units are registered and the maximum legal rents for such units.

Question: It is my understanding that some dwelling units which were exempt from rent control were put back under rent control. Will you clear this up for me?

Answer: In the law coming into effect on April 1, 1949, Congress brought back under rent controls all units which had temporarily been decontrolled by reason of owner occupancy or vacancy for a continuous 24-month period between February 1, 1945, and March 30, 1948. Also brought back under control at the same time, were units which had been temporarily decontrolled as a result of a 1947 long-term 15% increase lease being terminated before April 1.

Notice Directed By OPS To Sellers

Starting July 2d all retailers selling merchandise such as apparel, furniture, appliances and numerous household items covered by CPR No. 7, must price mark or tag all articles.

This reminder was issued today by Erie District OPS Director, William J. Collins, who explained that the extension by Amendment 9 to CPR No. 7 to July 31st as the date to which retailers may sell merchandise without official acknowledgment of receipt of pricing charts, does not postpone the requirement for price marking items.

The selling price may be marked on the article itself on a ticket or tag attached to the item, or may be shown on the shelf, rack or bin containing the article. In either case the price must be clearly visible to customers. Beginning today also, each store must post, in a prominent and clearly visible position, a sign reading "the prices of merchandise in this store are no higher than the OPS ceiling prices."

Thousands of service establishments in the Erie area have failed to comply with Ceiling Price Regulation 34, according to Director Collins, who said that all those dealing in services must not only post their prices in their shops but also send price lists to the district OPS offices in the Baldwin Building, 10th & State Streets, Erie.

In order to conform to the provisions of the Defense Production

Act as extended by Congress for 31 days, the Office of Price Stabilization has announced it had frozen June 30th ceiling prices of manufacturers covered by General Manufacturers Order CPR 22 and companion Manufacturers Regulations.

OPS District Director, William J. Collins, was notified by teletype today that General Overriding Regulation No. 13 has been issued to freeze indefinitely June 30 price ceilings and filing provisions of CPR 22 are likewise extended for an indefinite period.

Ceiling prices should be kept at their existing level. In effect the overriding regulation eliminates all requirements for roll backs after June 30 and freezes prices in effect on that date.

For manufacturers who have already established new ceiling prices under CPR 22, whether advances or roll backs, the new ceiling remains in effect.

Manufacturers who filed new ceiling prices late in June but who have not yet met a 15-day waiting period requirement before increasing prices must continue to use prices established under the General ceiling price regulations until further notice.

Russell Gala Days Aids Dep't Fund

Russell, July 2—Seventeen members were present for the meeting of the Fire Department Auxiliary conducted by Mrs. Elmer Roberts, when it was reported the $127 cleared through the Gala Days refreshments stand would be given to the fire department and the auxiliary will have uniforms made for a marching unit.

It was decided to sponsor an ice cream social during August and to give Mrs. Mary Schreckengost a gift for her work during Gala Days. One new member, Mrs. Hazel Gordon, was voted into the organization.

Concluding the meeting, refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. David Smith.

Lady Pine Grove Rebekahs attended the tureen dinner held by Sheffield Rebekahs and heard the report of the assembly in Pittsburgh, given by the new district deputy president, Mrs. Esther Burns. Remarks were also heard from Mrs. Mabel Phillips, past district deputy president, who presented a gift to the new officer. Following the meeting, a social time was enjoyed with prizes awarded winners in a program of games.

Wiltzie Ladies Aid members held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Herbert Lundmark, with Mrs. Eloy Lundmark assisting. Plans were made to hold a picnic at the Wiltzie School July 4th, with a tureen dinner served at one o'clock.

Watch for, and obey road signs. They were put there to save your life. In far too many fatal auto accidents, rules were violated.

"SECOND HAND LOW" GOOD DEFENSIVE PLAY

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"Second hand low" is a fairly good general rule for defensive play. If the declarer leads from his own hand or from the dummy and if you are next to play, it is usually wise to play one of your low cards.

There are dozens of situations in which you must break the rule. For example, it may be vital for you to win a trick rather than let it be ducked to your partner. Today's hand is a case in point.

West opened the ace of diamonds and continued with the eight of diamonds. How should declarer play the hand?

When the hand was actually played South saw that the defenders were threatening to take all of the trumps out of dummy. This would prevent him from ruffing a club.

New York—A forecast of prices to be paid dairy farmers in the New York milkshed in the last half of 1951 was made by Dr. C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area. At the same time he made an estimate of milk production for the July-December period, together with likely prices for fluid milk (Class 1-A) for the six months.

Dr. Blanford predicted that milk producers will receive an average price of $4.80 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts) for the last six months of this year as compared with an actual average of $4.44 for the last half of 1950. The high month for the year, he said, will be November when the uniform price probably will be in the neighborhood of $5.23 per hundredweight. The actual price for November, 1950, also the high month of that year, was $5.09 per hundredweight.

Handlers are expected to pay the New York milk pool an average of $5.85 per hundredweight for milk used for fluid purposes over the July-December period, Dr. Blanford estimated. This compares with an actual average of $5.41 per hundredweight for the same period in 1950. The highest price for fluid milk for the year will be in November, he said, when the price is expected to reach $6.13 per hundredweight. If that figure is reached, it will be an all-time high under the federal and state marketing orders for the New York area. The previous high was $6.12 per hundredweight for October, November and December, 1948.

MARINE HOME—Pfc. Kenneth C. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. White, 3 Fourth street, Youngsville, is home on 10-day leave after completing basic training at the Farris Island, S. C. Marine depot. He will report back to that base Sunday for further assignment. Young White was employed at Sunray Electric before entering the Marine Corps April 16.

Dr. Blanford pointed out that dairy farmers are never paid the Class 1-A price but that that price contributes most to the farmers' uniform price. Handlers pay the Class 1-A price to the New York pool for the milk they use in that category. The uniform price, which is the price dairy farmers actually receive, is determined by the use made of all milk received at country plants approved for the New York marketing area.

Snead Boosts His Exhibition Price

Oakmont, July 5—Sam Snead has boosted the price of his exhibition appearances now that he's wearing the PGA crown for the third time.

"I'm Ben Hogan and I'm worth $1,000 per exhibition," said the West Virginia, hillbilly, "I'm worth $300. And that's the price from now on."

Shooting sensational golf, Sam bagged the PGA title Tuesday by whipping 32-year-old Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., 7 and 6. The champ was 22 under par for the 186 holes of match play. He was four under regulation figures for the 30 holes played in the finals.

Burkemo's inability to match par was the deciding factor in the battle over Oakmont's 6882-yard stretch of traps, humped fairways and slick greens. He was over par on nine holes and Snead won eight of them.

Sam, who picked up $3,500 for the win, said he had a feeling he'd come through after knocking off Lloyd Mangrum in the third round. He also won the title in 1942 and 1949. Burkemo got $1,500 as a runner-up.

Why Blame Platoon Football If It's the Cost of Equipment?

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Pennsylvania State College joins the expanding ranks of critics of two-platoon football.

It asks the rules committee to eradicate unlimited substitution. The Penn State Athletic Advisory Board also has recommended to the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Eastern College Athletic Conference that spring practice be eliminated.

In connection with both the unit plan and spring drills, the Penn State board stresses cost, which has mounted three and four times. A ball which once could be bought for $7 now costs $20. Shoes that cost $6 now bring $23, etc.

If it is the cost of equipment that caused whittled budgets, why blame platoon football? More kids are playing than ever before, yet squads do not necessarily have to be any larger than they were when substitutions were limited. The difference is entire squads running on and off the field, and fewer men spending most of the afternoon on the bench.

It costs no more to equip the 18 men on each of 24 company teams at the United States Military Academy than it does that number of varsity players. There is winter, spring and summer track and field. If there is anything wrong with two-platoon football, it will die a natural death.

For instance, after coaching for 30 years, and having used both systems, Lafayette's Clipper Smith is convinced that the two-platoon scheme does not produce the best results.

I don't like the unit plan because it deprives the defensive man of the right to help move the ball, and denies the offensive man the privilege of making a hard, clean tackle.

There are two schools of thought regarding platoon football, but no one can argue that it doesn't get more young men in the game, which is the main idea.

EVERYTHING has gone up in connection with college athletics except the price of tickets and the turnouts.

Football has the shortest of all seasons—nine games in two months. Basketball practice starts with the opening of the school year, and the season runs until April 1. Baseball practice starts indoors and runs until summer. There is winter, spring and summer track and field.

Kiner Clouts Two In Second Contest

Pittsburgh, July 5—(P)—Ralph Kiner picked out game No. 2 to hit his 18th and 19th homers of the season as the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Cincinnati Reds in a doubleheader yesterday, 4-1 and 16-4.

Rookie Bob Friend's eight-hit pitching and Pete Castiglione's two-run homer accounted for the first win.

In the second game Kiner hit two homers and had seven RBI's to give Pitcher Bill Werle a 5-1 season's record. The homers were welcome to Kiner as National League President Ford Frick had just announced a $100 fine and three-day suspension for Ralph as a result of Tuesday's tiff with Umpire Jocko Conlan.

Toronto, July 5—(P)—Thoughtful Jim Ferrier, the defending champion, paced a par-busting field into the second round of the Canadian open golf championship today as the man to beat. Ferrier, who credited mental concentration for his blistering, seven-under par 65 yesterday, held a one-stroke edge over three Texans—Chuck Klein of Willow Springs, Jack Burke of Houston, and Ferd Hawkins of El Paso. Rain drenched the 6,543-acre, 72-hole Mississauga course as Ferrier, aided by sharp putting, toured the first nine in 32 and came home in 33. If the big transplanted Australian maintains his present pace, he'll crack the open record of 268 set by Bobby Locke in 1947.

One more bad round, and the leaders will be too far away for him to catch in the final 36-hole grind over the treacherous Portrush course Friday.

Suspension Handed Kiner for Outburst

Pittsburgh, July 5—(P)—Ralph Kiner, slugging Pittsburgh outfielder, is smarting quietly today under a three-day suspension.

Wordless, Ralph's parting shot before donning civilian clothes until Sunday was a pair of home runs—one a grand slammer—that ended a nine-game home run famine for the National League four-master king.

The slugger's running commentary in seven runs during a Pirates July Fourth display at the expense of the Cincinnati Reds.

Ralph blasted the home runs in the second game of the holiday doubleheader, shortly after he was served notice of the suspension and a $100 fine by President Ford Frick of the National League.

The usually well behaved Kiner was charged with pushing and shoving Umpire Jocko Conlan while protesting a decision in the Chicago Cubs game here Tuesday. The result: Kiner was ousted from a ball game for the first time in his six-year major league career.

Kiner says he didn't push Conlan, but accidentally stepped on the umpire's foot after charging over to protest Conlan's calling him out on a close play at first base. Conlan also ejected Pirate Coach Bill Posedel and Milt Stock. Posedel received the same fine and suspension as Kiner, but Stock did not.

Kiner's arguing about an infield out, which he was doing when Conlan ejected him in the sixth inning, is almost as strange a spectacle as his being thrown out of a game.

MIDDLE ATLANTIC

By The Associated Press

Niagara Falls swept a doubleheader from Lockport yesterday, 1-0 and 6-5 to climb into first place in the Middle Atlantic Baseball League.

Niagara has won three games and lost only one in the second half of the league's split season.

In each game, Lockport got just five hits, being limited to that number by Ed Promowicz and Fran Zeist in the first contest and Southpaw Ed Smrekar in the second. Lockport's Gene Strombeck hit an inside-the-park grand slam homer in the fourth inning of the second game.

The Erie Sailors won their first game of the second half, defeating Oil City 6-3 in a contest rained out at the end of the eighth. A second scheduled game was postponed.

Two Oleaners got homers—Chuck Harig in the fourth and George Shoup in the eighth. Bob Lallo's fourth inning double drove in what proved to be Erie's winning run.

The New Castle-Butler doubleheader was rained out.

PONY LEAGUE

Jamestown sat on top of the Pony League after the Fourth of July dividing point today with a 2½-game margin.

The Falcons increased their margin by winning twice while second-place Hornell split. Jamestown won Tuesday night, 13-0, from Wellsville and copped the first game of a doubleheader with Bradford, 7-2, before the rains came.

Hornell lost to Corning, 5-1, Tuesday, and defeated Corning, 7-3, last night. The Dodgers' first game yesterday was rained out at Corning.

Batavia was the only spot where Fourth of July doubleheaders were not marred by rain. Hamilton slapped the Clippers twice, 10-8 and 3-1, to move into fourth place a game ahead of Wellsville.

Wellsville defeated Olean in the first game, 7-5. Their second game was rained out at Wellsville.

Tuesday night play, Olean romped to a 23-5 win over Bradford.

Tonight's schedule:

Corning at Jamestown; Hamilton at Bradford; Hornell at Olean, and Batavia at Wellsville.

VETERANS' NEWS

Press release recently issued by the Secretary of Labor announcing the extension of the Selective Service Act of 1948 and amendments thereto.

"New law expands reemployment rights.

"The 1951 amendments to the Universal Military Training and Service Act (formerly the Selective Service Act of 1948) broaden the coverage of job protection to include persons who leave positions to enter military service but who are rejected and to reservists who enter military service for short tours of training duty only. Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin announced today.

"Subsection 9 (g) (3) of the new act grants statutory leaves of absence to rejectees and reservists on training duty," Secretary Tobin said. "Upon their rejection or release from training duty, such employees shall, if they make application 'for reinstatement within 30 days following their release, be reinstated in their former positions without reduction in pay, except as such reduction may be made for all employees similarly situated. This amendment applies only to persons who leave positions on or after June 19, 1951, the effective date of the Universal Military Training and Service Act."

"Secretary Tobin also pointed out that subsections 9 (g) (1), and (2) of the new act remove the 'first enlistment' restriction and increase from 3 to 4 years the period a person entering or reentering the armed forces after June 24, 1948 may serve and have reemployment rights. "These amendments are retroactive," Secretary Tobin said, "extending job protection to persons now in the military service who were not considered to have reemployment rights at the time they entered the armed forces because they accepted enlistments or tours of active duty in excess of three (3) years."

"Any person who desires assistance or additional information concerning the reemployment rights program should contact the field office of the Bureau of Veterans Reemployment Rights located at Room 502-E, New Federal Building, Pittsburgh, or telephone Mr. Gallant at Grant 1-0800, Extension 650."

Chapter 24

SUNDEMAN looked a shade perplexed. "All these questions. This cross-examination about Arenis?"

Jigger said warmly, "I ask you if it isn't odd that a run-of-the-mill artist can assure you that an extraordinarily high price will be met. And then to top it, the artist's forecast is realized; the promised price is met by somebody, and twice in a week!"

Sundemann looked alarmed by the outburst. A hand flew to his breast and his eyes searched Jigger's face. "So?—Is something wrong?" he asked anxiously.

"Something is," Jigger said grimly.

"What could be?—My God, what?" Sundemann's brow furrowed into a long, deep frown. "What could be wrong? The man paints, and I sell what he paints. Whoever buys, buys with his eyes open."

Jigger said, "I'm sorry to hurry you like this. But the fact is: Arenis is in trouble, serious trouble involving the police." He waited watchfully until his remark had plainly played hob with the dealer's imagination. "Don't really involve yourself by asking the nature of Arenis' fix. Just answer my questions as simply and as truthfully as you can. Jigger shrewdly delayed for another moment until Sundemann seemed sufficiently shaken to submit meekly to examination.

"How well do you know Arenis?"

"Except to stand for his craziness, believe me I don't know him."

"But you've been exhibiting him for how long?"

"Six, maybe eight months."

"Did any paintings sell during all that time? I mean, excepting the two you mentioned?"

"The dealer shook his head.

"How were Arenis' paintings priced during those earlier months?"

There was an instinctive hesitation, as if the point were a nail threatening to break through the wisdom and the man said almost inaudibly: "Two hundred and fifty. Sometimes $400."

Jigger drove the nail in. "How then did you justify the sudden $2500 prices to yourself?"

Sundemann didn't attempt to answer. He shook his head dejectedly, in an almost naive acceptance of guilt. Jigger asked, "Did you know the model who posed for Arenis' 'Nude of the Inner Eye'?"

Jigger nodded to himself. It was possible, yes. Leighton, the lover of Susan Hunter alias Sally Woods; Leighton paying ransom for Eric Arenis' silence. And now a note recalled itself to Jigger; the note he had flicked out of a letter-box "S. W. Back Later. M. M. Merle; Merle Leighton!"

Was the chronology complete? Jigger fought down a rise of excitement.

On the street, Red was inclined to pooh-pooh. "If it's hush money for something, why such an elaborate deal? Why not a straight transfer of cash?"

Jigger was silent, then said equivocally, "The form of blackmail doesn't alter the fact of it." He flashed a look of irritation at Red. "Why are you so skeptical all of a sudden?"

Red grinned feebly. "Maybe because what you're thinking about Merle Leighton scares me. The guy's rich, a national figure sort of, and a pillar of society. You're forgetting that Leighton's married, well married too."

Jigger nodded reminiscently. Newspaper copy like a hail of confetti had celebrated the marriage of Merle Leighton to Odette Brinkman, a girl barely twenty, and a gilded heiress.

Jigger said, "Nevertheless, it happens. Murder mixes with success as easily as with failure. Besides, your portrait of Leighton is as phony as a paid testimonial. The man's eyes sweep a fraud. He runs what practically amounts to a clinic with fewer qualifications for the job than the corner barber."

Jigger quickened his stride purposefully and Red hurried along beside him. "You're not going to pay Leighton a call this late?" Red objected.

It was far past ten o'clock. The lights in shop windows were going out; in dwellings, shades were drawn. It was too late for a pedestrian detective to presume to visit a name celebrity of Merle Leighton's weight.

Jigger came to a stop. "Tomorrow then, bright and early. I'll tackle Leighton alone, while you have a look at Bellevue. See how fares our friend with the traumatic amnesia. He may yet be useful."

"You mean, when and if he has a memory?"

Jigger nodded distractedly. He was tense all through him, impatient with the hour, impatient for movement. The late hour was a chain he would have to drag until morning.

Chapter 25

MERLE LEIGHTON was clad in a royal blue bathrobe with embroidered designs. He came up to Jigger with a puff of importance. This matter of desperate urgency you had to see me about? The dealer's eyes were wide open. What's it about?"

"Art," Jigger said at once, surrendering every prepared subtlety.

"Art?" Leighton looked perplexed. "But you said—"

"I lied a pack of lies. I wanted to be sure to get in to see you. Leighton's expression hardened. "And your reason?"

"Art, as I said. Those two paintings you bought recently."

Leighton said, "Which two paintings, and what about them?"

"Two paintings, done by an Eric Arenis. You no doubt remember purchasing them from the Baroque Art Gallery?"

"I remember them, yes?"

"They cost you $200 apiece—quite a lot for the work of a man who can't paint."

Leighton's eyes kindled. "Did you crash in here to tell me that?"

Jigger said levelly, "I also came to tell you about murder and a murderer. The victim was Anne Brown. The victim was once the mistress of the man who painted those pictures you bought for five or six times their worth. And the murderer: An unknown whom I believe the artist is shielding for a price."

Leighton was a consummate actor, or wholly innocent of any involvement. There was no reaction, nothing; just the look of a busy man being bothered.

Leighton said coldly, "And just why should I be concerned about all that?"

"The inference is as big as life, Leighton. How can a man with your gift for language miss it?" Jigger advanced, closed some of the gap between them. Unaccountably, he was seething with anger, blood-hot. It was the pomp about Leighton: the scorn, and the sureness.

Jigger said, "I repeat it: I said Eric Arenis knows the murderer, and is getting paid to suppress what he knows. In a word, blackmail."

Leighton said unexpectedly, "You gave me name when you phoned up here—I've forgotten it?"

"Jigger Moran. Now, let's get back to the point."

"Just who and what are you?"

"I said back to the point. Talk about what brought you to a third-rate art gallery in Greenwich Village; tell me what prompted you to buy junk at random figures."

Leighton moistened his lips. "If this is some badger game, abandon it. I've turned a dozen confidence men over to my lawyers, and my lawyers have turned them over to the police. I don't bluff, and I don't get tricked to escape embarrassment or notoriety."

His eyes made deliberate and careful note of Jigger's face and dress. "Now, answering your question: collector, art, kind of a relaxation, not a business. I buy what I like, and never haggle over price. I can afford not to; I pay what is asked."

Jigger asked, "You liked Eric Arenis' work?"

"I bought it."

"But what did you like about it?"

"We'll not enter into a discussion of art."

Jigger said stubbornly, "I still find it odd for a man to buy trash and pay so handsomely for it. He pointed to a wall. "A man who hangs originals by Picasso and Chagall. He crossed the room and read the signatures on the man's canvases. Also Stuart Davis, and Chirico. All prize paintings, and not an Arenis among them."

Jigger came back. "And these prized treasures in your town hotel suite. I wonder what you hang in that Britton mansion out in Great Neck. Surely not Eric Arenis—You'd be the laughing-stock!"

There was a small, faint, almost imperceptible smile on Leighton's face, a gleam of deliberateness. "Leighton, you're either the world's champion sucker, or you're a liar."

THERE was first an effort at rigid self-control; then Leighton exploded with the roar of a man whose most sacred inner life had been defiled. His arms began to fail. The first blow tapped Jigger's shoulder; the second missed utterly, and Leighton lost his balance with the force of the swing.

Leighton was suddenly a man berserk. He ran about wildly, seeking a weapon. His hand closed on a brass candelabrum. Jigger moved defensively, but too slowly. The candelabrum struck him high on one side of the face—the effect was a rush of water against the eardrum.

Leighton was yelling at the top of his voice when Jigger moved in to retaliate. The first blow stop-
